

Saddleback College Child Development Department presents Second Annual Child Development Conference

March 3, 2012
8:30 - 4:00 in SSC 212
Lunch included

Social Emotional Teaching, Prevention and Support Strategies

This training will introduce classroom strategies to help teachers manage classroom behaviors by building positive relationships, designing structured environments, and creating effective transitions and routines. Teachers will learn how to facilitate children's social emotional development by teaching problem solving, friendship, and emotional regulation skills. A variety of teaching models will be discussed, including the Center for Social Emotional Foundations for Early Learning (CSEFEL) pyramid model, and the work of Becky Bailey, Jane Nelson, and others.

Presenters for the workshop are Jean Barbre Ed.D., Shelia Arnold, and Krista Murphy.
