Saddleback College is one of 27 select Community Colleges in California included in a new initiative that will create a pathway to six of California’s most prestigious undergraduate institutions and their affiliated law schools.

PARTICIPATING UNIVERSITIES AND LAW SCHOOLS:

- University of Southern California and USC Gould School of Law
- University of California, Irvine and UCI School of Law
- Loyola Marymount University and LMU Law School
- Santa Clara University and SCU School of Law
- University of San Francisco and USF School of Law
- University of California, Davis and UCD School of Law

The Community College Pathway to Law School 2+2+3 initiative is an unprecedented opportunity to offer advancement in the legal profession for interested students, particularly diverse populations who have been traditionally underrepresented in the legal profession.

Each student who successfully completes the program requirements will be afforded special recognition for admission to one of the six participating universities listed above, and given special recognition for admittance to the six affiliated law schools.

You must meet with a Transfer Center counselor each semester to maintain your good standing as a Pathway Scholar. This exciting initiative, sponsored by The State Bar of California’s Council on Access and Fairness (COAF) and CA LAW, Inc., has established agreements with 27 California community colleges and six law schools and their respective undergraduate institutions.

Saddleback College is now accepting applications for the Pathway to Law School 2+2+3 program. Pathway to Law School is designed to prepare community college students for successful transfer to a four-year university and admission to law school. Program benefits include financial aid counseling, academic advisement, pre-law advisement, LSAT prep information, exposure to the legal profession, participation in the Saddleback College Pre-Law Society, legal internships, service-based learning, and other law-related support. All opportunities are designed to increase the interest and eligibility of community college students who may wish to pursue a career in law. Students who have earned a bachelors degree or higher are not eligible to participate in the program.
