I forgot to tell you about one last scholarship application possibility, and wanted to make sure you got the information right away, because the deadline is coming up quickly.

The Honors Transfer Council of California allows us to nominate two students for the Exemplary Achievement scholarships. A number of these are given out at the HTCC conference, so the nominated students are very likely to receive the award.

DEADLINE: FEB. 28th 11:59 PM

If you are interested, you need to email the following to arosenberg@saddleback.edu by the deadline:

A 500-word personal essay addressing one or more of the three areas listed below. (If they don't all apply to you, don't push it. Write about whatever is your real story.) The document should be in doc, docx or rtf format. Be sure to include your name at the top!

a. Excellence or extraordinary improvement in your academic performance, especially if related to performance in the Honors Program.

b. Your progress toward your personal goals or objectives, especially your commitment or perseverance in overcoming obstacles to success in college and/or the Honors Program.

c. Extracurricular service to your college or community or the Honors Program community, or exemplary involvement in athletic or cultural activities, especially in leadership roles.

HTCC Conference presenters may apply, but this is open to all Honors Program students in good standing. Any student who wins the award but is not a presenter or volunteer will receive complementary conference registration.

Dear Student Researchers,

YOU HAVE EVEN MORE TIME!
Because the deadline has been extended by the Bay Honors Consortium, and because they made the deadline coincide with a holiday weekend, I'm allowing you, if you like, this year to submit directly to the symposium without pre-approval. Just DO let me know you sent an abstract in! Submission site:

Bay Honors Symposium Submission Site

The submission page says Feb 14th is still the deadline, but it's really Feb 15th at 11:59 pm. Of course I'm willing to look at any abstract you'd like me to: (email me)

DEADLINE NOW FEB 15TH

Details on the Honors webpage for this conference.
